

I am a flight attendant with America West Airlines and am writing regarding cell phone use inflight.

There is no positive proof that cell phones do not interfere with aircraft instruments.

The atmosphere in an aircraft is already tense and cell phones will not help this. If there is an emergency situation passengers are likely to be grabbing their cell phones rather than listening to important flight attendant instruction.